Parade Features Fourth Observance Of City's Sesqui

Thousands Line Streets To View Sesqui Parade

Veterans Parade On Monday Afternoon Notable Opening Spectacle Of Sesqui

MANY TAKE PART IN PROCESSION

They blew the lid off New Castle's Sesquicentennial Monday afternoon with a parade that for color and spirit tops anything the city has ever seen.

If the success of the parade was an augury, the sesqui is headed for star studded success. The parade was a lengthy one, the streets were lined with thousands of people, and the marchers swung along with a verve that only military men can achieve.

All Streets Lined

It seemed that every inch of available space on the parade route was jammed. From Division down Moravia to Long, up Long to Mill and up Mill to Croton; from Croton down Washington the public square was black with people.

From Croton avenue to the public square was a picture in crowds. The sidewalks were jammed, the crowd overflowed into the street, windows were full, and the crowd in the public square alone must have numbered thousands.

It was an ideal day for a parade, a bronze July sun, balmy air and the spirit of the day combined to make it ideal. Overhead a squadron of six Army planes wheeled and banked and roared over the parade line as an aerial salute from one branch of the service to the others.

All Branches Represented

All branches of the service were represented. Army Navy, Marines, Air Corps, WACS, WAVES.

Street lights were burning in New Wilmington at 6 o'clock Monday evening, Pa Newc informed.

Over the weekend there were numerous lawn parties, family reunions, and in connection with the Sesquicentennial celebration, some high school class reunions.

Work of applying the white lines to the highways of Lawrence County will be started on Wednesday, it was reported today by Alfred Martin, county highway superintendent. Preliminary marking has already been done and the machine used to apply the paint has arrived in the county from Butler county.

One of the most efficient systems for watering a huge lawn was noted at the site of the Pennsylvania Power Company at West Pittsburg. Many streams of water were playing over the spacious lawn, apparently from a permanently arranged system for the purpose of keeping the lawn green.

District highways were comparatively safe over the long Fourth of July week end. With no accidents in the county, Pa Newc observed safe and sane driving the past 48 hours in a trip made into West Virginia. Cars crowded area (Continued on Page Eight)

Sesqui Queen And Court At Ball Monday

Formal Crowning Ceremony To Take Place At Castle-Cade Tonight

Queen Betty and her ladies appeared in costume and after "reigning" for about half an hour the queen descended to the level of mortals and danced.

The Queen's Ball was the opening affair of several public appearances for the queen and her court. Today a luncheon was held in the Castleton hotel, and tonight at 8:30 weather permitting the queen will be crowned at the opening of Castle-Cade, the pageant at Taggart stadium.

Victim Of Auto Crash Improves

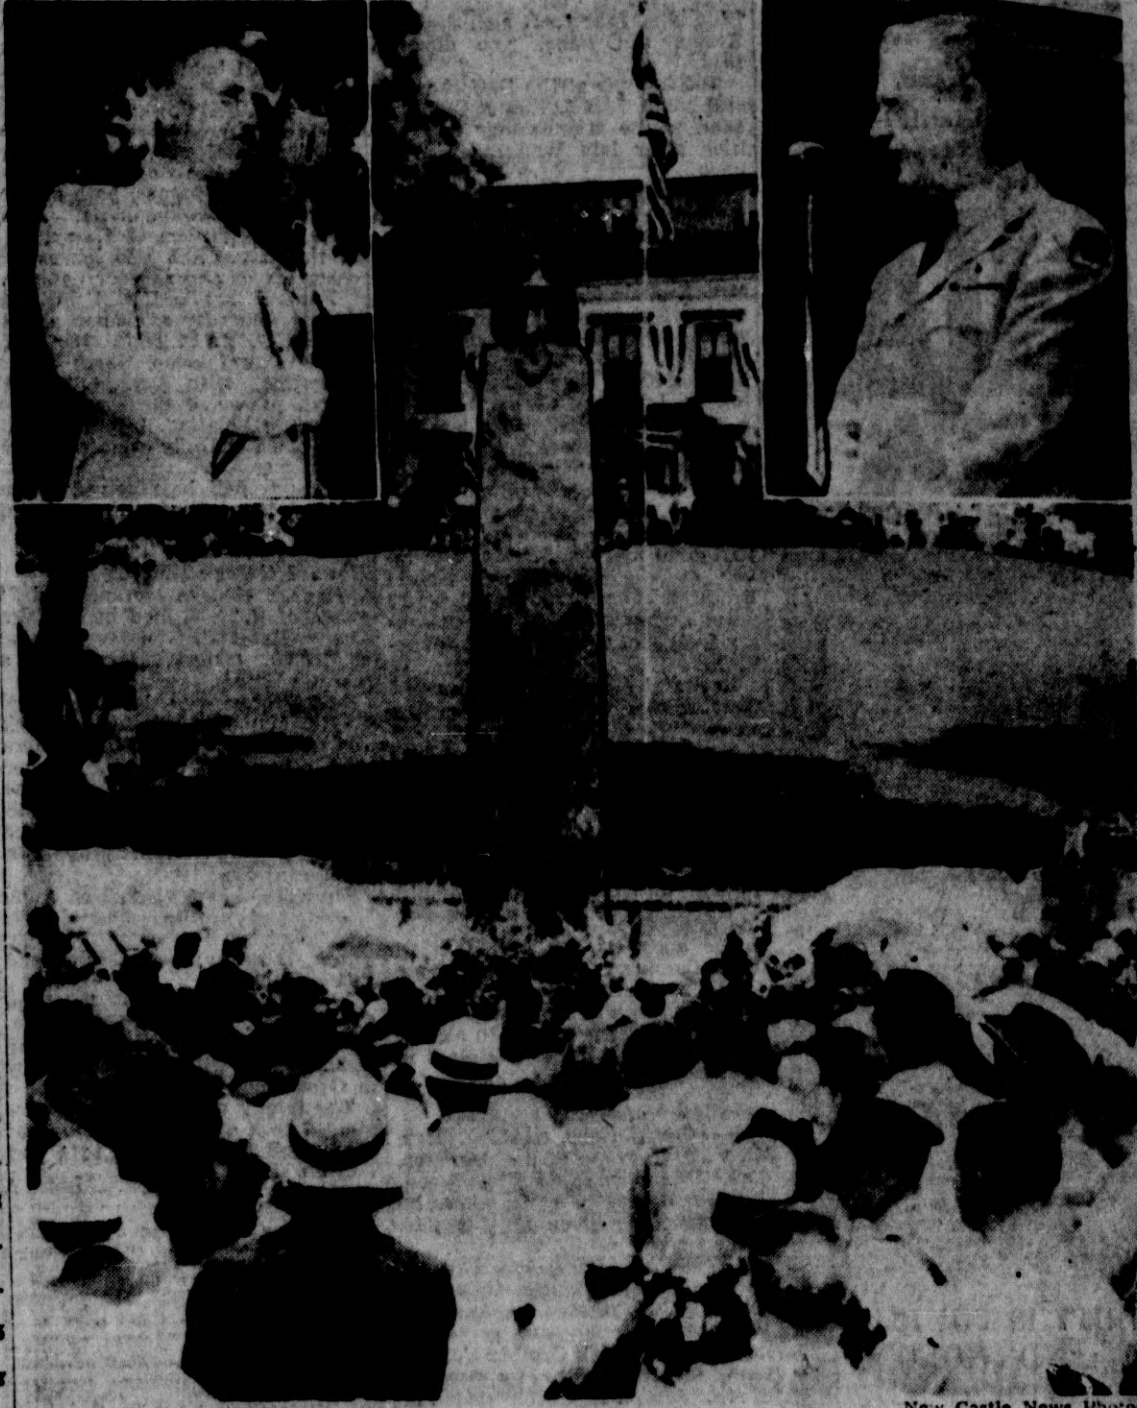

Considerable improvement was noted today in the condition of Alexander A. Sanson, of 412 South Jefferson street, who was injured in the automobile collision, which claimed the lives of his two companions, Frank Zona and Louis Dell, Friday night, on Route 18, seven miles north of the city.

Among them were James Roosevelt, a top leader in the anti-Truman movement and son of the late president. The California Democratic committeeman refused to accept Eisenhower's latest "No" and insisted that he be drafted as a "national unity" candidate.

Roosevelt re-issued the call for a pre-convention caucus in Philadelphia.

Gen. Eisenhower Refuses To Run For Nomination

Boom For "Ike" As Democratic Nominee Sags Following General's Declaration

TRUMAN CERTAIN TO BE NOMINEE (BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, July 6.—(INS)—The swelling Eisenhower-for-president boom sagged today following a curt, emphatic "No" by the former chief of staff.

Eisenhower authorized his press chief at Columbia University to put the damper on efforts of Democratic leaders to draft him for the presidential nomination.

A crisp, firm 76-word statement put "Ike" on record rather definitively as cool "at this time" to "nomination for any political office" or participation "in partisan political contests."

Reserves Right To Speak

But the popular wartime chief of staff reserved the right to speak in the future "on any issue of importance to the country on which I may feel qualified to express an opinion."

Obviously disappointed at the latest Eisenhower "No," but reluctant to give up until all efforts to draft him fail, some anti-Trumanites wouldn't accept the general's statement as final.

Instead, they continued to whoop it up for his nomination via a draft.

Obnoxious Caucus Call

Among them were James Roosevelt, a top leader in the anti-Truman movement and son of the late president. The California Democratic committeeman refused to accept Eisenhower's latest "No" and insisted that he be drafted as a "national unity" candidate.

Roosevelt re-issued the call for a pre-convention caucus in Philadelphia.

No Accidents On County Highways During Week End

Although most roads of the county were crowded with motor vehicles over the long Fourth week end, Pennsylvania State Motor Police stated this morning that there were no motor vehicle accidents reported to them, making Lawrence county one of the safest to drive in the past week end.

Warnings issued locally and by the national safety councils were taken literally by operators of motor vehicles. Safe and rational driving was in effect throughout the county it was reported. Roads of the county were patrolled by the motor police in their patrol cars bringing about a general observance of traffic and safety laws.

Unveiling Ceremony Takes Place At Court House Lawn Sunday After-NOON

NOTED LEADERS MAKE ADDRESSES

Lawrence County dedicated its memorial to its heroic dead Sunday afternoon, July 5.

Several thousand citizens packed into the area around the Court House lawn, a shaft of rainbow granite, became the public symbol of sacrifices during World Wars I and II, as two former military officers made the dedicatory addresses.

Old Bells Toll

At two o'clock the Old Court House bell, not in use for some years tolled out its invitation to the people to gather and a few minutes later Attorney Walter A. Kieker took charge as chairman of the day.

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of First Presbyterian church, delivered the invocation and Mrs. Agnes O'Neill, a Gold Star Mother, sang "America."

Marshall Hands U.S. Protest On Berlin To Soviet

Blockade Of Berlin Is Formally Protested In Action Today

BRITAIN, FRANCE ALSO SEND PROTESTS

By JOHN A. REICHMANN (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Secretary of State Marshall today personally handed Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin an aggressive note of protest over the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Panyushkin was hastily summoned to the state department this morning to receive the protest.

He was met in Marshall's reception room by Counselor Charles F. Bohlen, the department's Russian expert.

Fourteen minutes later Panyushkin and an aide emerged from Marshall's office. He admitted receiving a note but said he did not know whether it concerned the Berlin situation or not. The ambassador declined further comment.

No Premature Publication

Immediately afterward, the state department revealed that press releases have been taken against premature publication of the note. Marshall, it was said, told Panyushkin that the United States would not publish the text until (Continued on Page Ten)

Count your tenders and bumpers too, look at the paint on the car, no matter the trip, though, then stay in town, or your bumper carried you far, if the tenders are good and the paint isn't scratched, and the car still runs, well I guess you can sit right down and count this off, the Fourth was a great success. For the number of tenders that met their doom, is a total I cannot say, but I saw a lot that had waxes in them, the waxes, so today.

Shanghai In Typhoon Path

Precautionary Measures Are Taken In City To Lessen Damage

SHANGHAI, July 6.—(INS)—A typhoon was roaring toward Shanghai today and is expected to strike the coastal city about midnight tonight.

The Zikawei observatory broadcast the warning and U. S. naval officials took all precautionary measures to safeguard American vessels and aircraft anchored in Shanghai harbor.

Naval planes were evacuated from the city's Kiangyuan airfield and flown inland to Nanking to escape the oncoming twister.

Earlier, the observatory reported the violent windstorm was 150 miles southeast of Shanghai and advancing toward the city in a northwesterly direction at a velocity of 20 miles an hour.

The visiting American ships in Shanghai harbor include the cruiser Helms, the destroyer McCaffery, the minesweeper Mervine and the transport General Mann.

The transport, loaded with returning U. S. Army dependents and navy personnel, was due to leave tomorrow, but probably will stay over another day.

ern, company representative in the Darlington district was standing at the foot of the pole, and saw Mr. Mayberry, a lineman for the post 21 years, slump in his safety belt.

Second Bolt Struck

Bowers immediately prepared to go up for Mr. Mayberry, when the second bolt struck, killing the latter instantly. Nearby neighbors assisted Mr. Bowers lower Mayberry's body with the use of a rope. A doctor was summoned, artificial respiration was applied, but all efforts to revive Mr. Mayberry were futile. Mr. Bowers was awarded for his injuries.

Mr. Mayberry was born in New Buffalo, Ohio, February 10, 1900, son of Samuel A. and Mabel Swank Mayberry. He lived here most of his life, and for 21 years was employed as a lineman for the Pennsylvania Power company. He was a member of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Waiting to view the parade Monday, at corner of East Washington and Crozer avenues, we noticed about 2000 people, a host in the air circling above the Kuris property, then make a lightning dive toward the rear. Presently it rose again, circled some more and made another dive, then back up again. The bird did some circling and darted downward a third time but did not return to the air. It had evidently secured its prey.

highways with many city dwellers seeking the rural sections to find relief from the hot residential areas.

Sunburn took its toll of victims over Sunday and Monday, Pa. News learns. One group who spent the week end on Lake Erie were burned so badly that they were unable to put their clothing on to go to work this morning, Pa. News is told. Of the thousands in swimming in the district, no drownings were reported.

Wheat cutting is under way on Lawrence County farms. On several farms in the northern end of the county, it was noted that wheat had been cut and stacked in some of the fields. Evidently these fields are being harvested by the old time method and not by combines.

Many of the balloons that were sold to children during the parade floated down on Monday afternoon, got loose and soared into the skies. The balloons seemed to go very high, once they started upward.

Despite the legal ban on fireworks there appeared to be quite a lot of these makers in use around the outskirts of the city over the Fourth.

It may have been a holiday for many workers on Monday but on a large number of farms harvesting work went on as usual, Pa. News noted.

Some pigeons that were occupying a ledge along a downtown building during the parade Monday afternoon, took flight suddenly when one of the parade trucks let loose with a bomb blast that created quite a noise. The birds were badly frightened and darted away in a body.

Work of erecting the new lighting system at Taggart stadium is under way. Great batteries of lights on top of steel towers are being erected.

Wampum fire department had a parade of its own through Washington street, Monday afternoon just prior to the veterans parade. The Wampum fire truck made a trip through the crowd-lined street.

The fourth set of twins to be born at the Jameson Memorial hospital in a two weeks period, arrived there on Saturday. They were twin boys, to Mr. and Mrs. Seth Daugherty, of 1703 Delaware avenue.

Volant had quite a crowd in the borough on Monday, when an especial Fourth celebration was staged, featuring ball games and a program at the athletic field.

Vandals tore off the "Welcome" banner from the bustling street across East Washington street, near West avenue. Some youths, aboard a truck, panning beneath the banners, on Saturday evening, were observed doing the mischief.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

We know that our City is hard pressed for money, but when they have to fine a business man and taxpayer, for having his car driven around to the front of his place of business, in order to use same, we wonder if this is going to help business any. We can see why there is a movement to the country districts by business.

When that man happened to have an order in his pocket for a good many hundred dollars worth of building material, which was taken out where he could leave his car unattended, we wonder if this will bring in business, or drive it away.

The services of our well trained personnel and the use of our modern air conditioned Mortuary relieve the family of the responsibility of the many details that are necessary to the proper handling of present day funerals. The family may avail themselves of the comforts and conveniences of our beautifully appointed Mortuary during the trying days of their bereavement, at no additional cost.

Carole Landis Takes Own Life

Hollywood Is Stunned At Tragic Death Of Noted Beauty

HOLLYWOOD, July 6.—(INS)—Blonde Carole Landis, whose beauty had thrilled millions of moviegoers and G.I.'s, failed to find her own happiness and is dead today from an overdose of sleeping pills.

The movie capital was stunned at the death of one of its gayest personalities, whose body was found late yesterday by film star Rex Harrison.

Everyone was asking why? Carole had everything—money, fame, beauty, brains—but love? She had been married four times, and each had ended in divorce.

But that hadn't seemed to daunt the impulsive actress who was a friend of everyone—stars, extras, servants—and a great favorite of the men overseas whom she visited during the war.

Original Sweater Girl She was the original sweater girl. But that was yesterday, before British actor Rex Harrison called her luxurious Santa Monica home and was told by her maid that Miss Landis had not answered her knock all morning.

He replied: "I'll be there."

And when he arrived at the home where he had dined the night before, he found the fragile-looking blonde lying on her bathroom floor.

She was still wearing the checked bouffant skirt, the white blouse the gold sandals of the evening before.

The maid said that, when Harrison saw the body and felt the still heart, he cried:

"Oh, no, honey, why did you do it?"

Died of Medicine Overdose The 29-year-old actress had died of an overdose of ultra powerful sleeping pills, one of which was still clutched in her hand. Near her head was a cabinet containing a jewel box.

Harrison, who described himself as "a good friend" of Miss Landis read the pathetic suicide note which the star had hastily written to her mother, Mrs. Clara Landis.

The note stated:

"Dearest Mommie: I'm sorry, really sorry, to put you through this. But there is no way to avoid it. I love you, darling. You have been the most wonderful ma ever and that applies to all our family. I love each and every one of them dearly. Everything goes to you. Look in the files, and there is a will which decrees everything. Goodbye, my angel. Pray for me."

It was signed: "Your Baby," of Harrison called police and reported the death.

Richmond, Cal., July 6.—(INS)—The father of Carole Landis expressed doubt today that the film star's death from an overdose of sleeping pills was self-inflicted.

Alfred L. Ridgely, 57, the father, said he "didn't believe Carole committed suicide."

Soviet Suspends Berlin Salaries Under Control

BERLIN, July 6.—(INS)—Soviet authorities in Berlin suspended the salaries of all municipal officials under their control today.

In the latest move complicating Berlin's precarious currency, food and traffic problem, the Soviets summoned Berlin civic officials to headquarters and advised them that the wage ban would apply to all employees from Lord Mayor Frau Louise Schroeder down "until the political situation is cleared."

Allied aerial supply of food and other essentials to Soviet-blockaded Berlin was handicapped by fog which closed down on the huge Rhein-Main airport at Frankfurt.

WAR MEMORIAL IS DEDICATED and then presented it to the public through Mrs. Ethel Murphy, president of the Gold Star Mothers. The flag was raised by a detail composed of Lt. Mary Thomas, Cpl. Collins, Sgt. Horne, First Sgt. Helen Yankura, Chief Bond and Cpl. Rita Metz.

Admiral Clark, former commander of the USS Yorktown and Brig-Gen. F. B. Prickett were the dedicatory speakers.

Said Admiral Clark: "This memorial represents the supreme sacrifice of young American manhood to the cause of freedom. It is a memorial to which the people can look in days to come to recall that the freedom we won in the days of the Revolution had to again be guaranteed in the blood of our youth."

He spoke briefly of his service in the South Pacific and said that Chief Petty Officer Steve E. Bond, now on recruiting duty here, had served with him through the South Pacific campaign.

"If ever we have to go to war again," said Admiral Clark, "I want Chief Bond along with me."

General F. B. Prickett, Brig-Gen. F. B. Prickett was the second military speaker.

He paid tribute to the thoughtfulness of the people of the county in erecting such a memorial and in part said:

"Today, we are gathered here to honor a group of men who gave more than their personal possessions to further the democratic principles of this country. They gave their lives—no one can give more. No one of us can, nor can the country as a whole, ever repay them or their loved ones for the service both have rendered, but we can, with the help of this memorial, remember that these men made the supreme sacrifice. It is for us to remember that while this country and what it stands for still exists, there is hope for world peace. It is the responsibility of each one of us and of all Americans to keep America a haven of freedom and a tower of strength."

Memorial Unveiled Three little youngsters unveiled the wall of names of men who had died. The three, Peggy Ann Elder, DeRonda Elliott and Wayne Patterson pulled the covering from the granite wall, to reveal the names of all men who died in their country's service in the two World Wars.

Prayers were offered by Rev. Francis M. McCarter, pastor of St. Mary's church, and Rabbi Julius Lipschutz, of Tifereth Israel Synagogue.

The American Legion band provided military music for the occasion.

Upon the platform were city and county officials, representatives of military orders and distinguished guests. The memorial service closed with a volley to the dead, fired by members of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

would be continued in the convention city despite "Ike's" emphatic "No."

Truman On First Ballot? WASHINGTON, July 6.—(INS)—President Truman's chances for nomination by the Democratic convention on the first ballot were enhanced greatly today by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's refusal to accept a presidential draft.

Two of the Democrats leading the fight to draft Eisenhower said they will not give up but the general's statement was viewed in Washington as virtually assuring the nominating of Mr. Truman.

Dixie Democrats who were booming Eisenhower in a "stop-Truman" campaign indicated they will nominate their "favorite sons" against Mr. Truman at the convention opening in Philadelphia Monday.

Political observers feel, however, that there is no outstanding "favorite son" with sufficient vote-getting power to challenge President Truman.

Theology comes from the Latin "theologia," also from a Greek word that means "a speaking concerning God."

Word Received U. S. To Hasten Military Aid To Western Europe

PARIS, July 6.—(INS)—Diplomatic tension mounted in western Europe today after word was received that the United States government has decided to hasten military aid to the western European union.

Diplomatic advisers said that the purpose of Washington in calling a conference of five nations of the European union is to speed up aid to them in view of the seriousness of the Berlin situation.

The summons to the meeting of envoys of Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands was made for discussion of means to apply the resolution of senate foreign relations committee chairman Sen. Arthur Vandenberg. This resolution authorizes the association of the United States in regional defense pacts under the United Nations where the security of America is involved.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER City Health Superintendent

SWEET AND LOW Sweet and Low was a popular song many years ago. It was a good song for a barber shop quartet.

Sometimes a person may be sweet and low. Perhaps he may be too sweet. He may have diabetes. Diabetes means too much sugar in the blood. It is not caused by eating too much sugar.

If a person has diabetes he needs medical care. He may regulate his life so that he will be comfortable for many years.

If one person in a family is found to have diabetes all the other blood relatives should be examined.

No cure for diabetes has been found yet.

lar offenses by individuals of non-union groups are punished? Talk About Civil Rights

There has been a great deal of talk recently about civil rights, including the right of a citizen or an institution to immunity from injury, persecution, defamation, damage, destruction and loss through the actions of others. These rights should be firmly protected against groups under whatever designation; if one group can violate them, another group or even an individual, can violate them.

Many will remember the strike of the Homestead workers against the Carnegie Steel Company which occurred many years ago and no company in America was so severely criticized as were the officials of the Carnegie Steel Company for their ruthless actions against the strikers and the mobs assisting in attempting to destroy the Homestead works and prevent the performance of any activities of the great plant. These actions on the part of the company's officials were primarily caused by the incompetency of the officers of Allegheny County and the State of Pennsylvania. There was no adequate protection given either to the plant or the workmen willing to work.

Following that great strike, we had one of our own in New Castle—the strike of the tinplate workmen. So serious was that strike and so inadequate was the police protection given to the company that there was actually an organization formed by the citizens of New Castle to take a hand in the matter and one gorgeous fight between this organization and the union was prevented only by end of the strike. But it will be remembered that from that time on until the coming of F. D. R. and the formation of the C. I. O. there was peace in the steel industry and comparatively few strikes and acts of violence perpetrated in the United States anywhere. The actions of the leaders of the unions under the leadership of F. D. R. made for very serious trouble in the industrial affairs of the United States.

The Wagner Act was passed by a subsequent Congress which gave very unusual protection to Union officials in respect to all their acts and since the passage of the Taft-Hartley Act it has been the avowed purpose of the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. to elect a Congress to again restore the provisions of the Wagner Act.

Act Is Mild One As a matter of fact, the Taft-Hartley Act is a very mild one. It gives the employers some opportunity of presenting their side in these industrial disturbances and it takes from the Union leaders much of their autocratic rule. The Taft-Hartley Act has strengthened the hands of the legal authorities, particularly the courts. Unfortunately, the Supreme Court of the United States has been taken over by the New Dealers, as well as the Federal District and Circuit Courts. Most of the appointments to these courts were made during the administration of that same F. D. R. But John Lewis and the railroad unions have found that things are very different now, and while there may be several imperfections in the Taft-Hartley Act, it is a distinct improvement over the Wagner Act.

These two great Unions—the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L.—are going to make a strong attempt to again give them the practically absolute power to fix the rules governing industrial relations affairs, as well as the pay of the union members.

It is now up to the citizens—the citizens voters of the United States to elect Republican members to the eighty-first Congress and to elect a Republican President who will insist upon the control of industrial relations by rules that are fair both to the employer and the employee.

WASHINGTON CALLING

and mementoes of Revolutionary heroes. Fortunately, the pantheon concept got lost at some point or other and what we have today is the simple obelisk.

Public subscription raised the monument to 154 feet by 1854. There it stood until Congress took over in the midst of the centennial fervor in 1876. Then again zealous architects came forward with new and elaborate ideas. But again the obelisk was preserved.

In December, 1884, the apex was completed, and on Washington's Birthday the following year the aluminum capstone was set in place at 550 feet and the monument dedicated. An oration written by the venerable Robert C. Winthrop, who had been Speaker of the House in 1848, was read. "The storms of winter," Winthrop had written, "must blow upon it. The action of the elements must soil and discolor it. An earthquake may shake its foundations. Some mighty tornado or resistless cyclone may rend its massive blocks asunder and hurl huge fragments to the ground. But the character, which is commemorated and illustrated, is secure. It will remain unchanged and unchangeable in all its consummate purity and splendor, and will more and more command the homage of succeeding ages in all regions of the earth."

Down To Our Time That brings us down to our time. Rep. Christian Herter of Massachusetts likes to tell about an incident that occurred when he was with an UNRRA mission Yugoslavia in 1946. He was traveling in a jeep with the wife of the Minister of War. She was a fiery Communist who talked at length about the glories of the new Yugoslavia. When Herter had been silent a long time, she suddenly said, "Don't you love your country?" The startled Herter replied that he did love it very much. "Then why don't you talk about it?" she demanded.

Most of us take for granted that we have with a complacency that is often downright smugness. That soaring shaft should be a reminder of a day when men struggled and fought and died for the freedoms we enjoy.

State Police Show 19 Injured During Month in County

Thirty Traffic Accidents Investigated With No Fatalities Reported During June

Troop "D" of the Pennsylvania State Police, New Castle Sub-station reported that during the month of June there were 19 passengers or operators of motor vehicles injured in highway accidents. During the past month a total of 30 accidents investigated, none of which took the life of any motorist. The injured total brings an increase of one over the same period in 1947.

Members of the local troop made 370 patrols during the month, covering a total of 6,000 miles in the performance of their duties. Property damage amounting to $7,013, was sustained during June by motor vehicles. Route 423 had the highest total of accidents, with 14 occurring on that road, while on Route 16, and Route 18, two each occurred, with the remainder scattered over other thoroughfares of the county.

The largest number of accidents occurred between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 3 p. m., when 13 were reported; five took place between the hours of 5 and 7 p. m., and the remainder during other hours. The patrolmen listed the major causes for the accidents as follows: speed or too fast driving for conditions; reckless driving and inattentiveness.

Daylight accidents totaled 23, with seven taking place at night. Persons of both sexes and nearly all ages were involved either as drivers, passengers or pedestrians. During the month, two stolen cars were recovered with 97 persons arrested for the violation of the motor laws in the county. There were 102 complaints or requests for assistance at the New Castle Sub-station, which resulted in 64 criminal investigations and 38 other investigations. The police made a total of 37 criminal arrests, 17 of which were for larceny, ten for burglary, and three for receiving stolen goods. The balance were for various charges.

Three Policemen Named To Force

Council Approves Appointments—Other Action At Session Today

City Council convened Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, D. S. T. in the Council chambers, City Hall, with Mayor John F. Haven presiding.

Edna Reimold, secretary to Mayor Haven, was authorized to act as city clerk for the period from July 4 to July 19 during the vacation absence of Jack Fritz, city clerk.

Policemen Named

Three permanent appointments to the police department were made by Council. A list was submitted by the civil service board for police, and the appointments made by Council were Patsy R. Bozzi, Raymond B. Webber and Kevin B. Goodman.

Protest Business

A petition from the citizens of second ward to Council stated that a business establishment known as Tiny Tots Diaper Service, located at the rear of 215 East Wallace avenue, was in a residential district.

Action taken by Council was referred to City Solicitor Robert White to report to the attendees of the service that they were in B residential district, which prohibits business establishments.

Reports Made

Crack Breaching

Business brought before Council by James Gibson, director of street and public improvements, concerned the dredging of Neshannock creek in preparation for the construction of a new bridge.

This was referred to city solicitor to contact the Water and Power Resources Board at Harrisburg and make a later report to Council.

Celebrants Swelter In Humid Weather

Severe Electric Storm Comes Some Damage Here Early Sunday Morning

Fourth of July celebrants sweltered in the hot humid weather which was experienced over the holiday period, the temperature reaching a high mark of 94 degrees on Monday. Little relief was experienced at night temperatures in the upper 80's being experienced.

Two terrific electric storms swept over the district early Sunday morning, one about midnight and the other about 4:30 a. m., but as far as could be learned no serious damage resulted locally.

A high tension wire was knocked down on East Wallace avenue early Sunday morning, and a pole was struck on English avenue, near the home of E. A. Peterson, burning the insulation off the wiring. The Pennsylvania Power company took care of both cases.

Report 40,000 Miners Strike

PITTSBURGH, July 6.—(INS)—The steel industry's 40,000 "captive" coal miners went on strike today, and at least 20 commercial pits also were idle as the walkout spread.

The 40,000 United Mine Workers in the "captive" mines stayed away from work because they have no contract.

Harry A. Butler, executive vice-president of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association, said he knew of 30 commercial mines which did not open at the conclusion of the annual 10-day vacation, although the miners are under contract.

INDOOR RAIN

PITTSBURGH — "Dry rain drops" enable Westinghouse scientists to bring bad weather radar research indoors without anyone getting wet. The "rain drops" are made of plastic and are used to find out why rain and snow often block ultrashort radar waves before they reach their destination.

New Industry Is Coming Here

Will Occupy Building On Old Rubber Company Site In Seventh Ward

J. C. Wachtman, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association today made the following announcement concerning a new industry for New Castle.

"The Commercial Tank company, operated by Oscar G. Theilmann and William F. Theilmann on the site of the old Seiberling Rubber company plant in Mahoningtown, announce the lease with purchase privilege of their plant and grounds to a mid-western firm allied with the bedding industry. The deal is effective at once and extensive alterations are expected to get under way without delay.

"The Theilmann brothers have operated a tank manufacturing business for years in the New Castle area. They were located on South street, west of Mercer for several years, the property having been taken over by the Eagles' lodge. Their temporary retirement from the septic tank business was forced by "steel starvation". Sources that had been adequate for years have finally disappeared, forcing them, if they would continue, into the "grey market" with exorbitant costs.

Bring New Industry

"Electing to retire from manufacturing until steel returns to a free market, the Theilmanns worked with Greater New Castle Association in negotiations extending over two months to bring the new industry into New Castle. Their plant, amounting to some 25,000 square feet of covered space plus nearly two acres of ground, was acquired from GNCA two years ago when expansions plans appeared to be logical. They had erected the building themselves upon the ruins of the old rubber plant. It fitted into the plans of the new firm and the deal was consummated.

"Representatives of the new firm will arrive this week to supervise alterations and installation of specialized equipment in the plant. Two executives of the firm will bring their families to New Castle as soon as they can arrange for suitable living quarters."

SENATOR MARTIN MAKES ADDRESS

Castle's distinguished sons, the late Lieutenant-Colonel John B. Brettell.

Here in these beautiful and peaceful surroundings, the members of his Cavalry unit have caused to be erected this enduring bronze tablet in perpetuation of his memory and in tribute to his patriotism.

The value of this memorial is enhanced by the fact that it was made possible by his own comrades. No higher honor can come to any man than a tribute from his close associates.

The man we honor here today was typical of the best in the citizen-soldier. He accepted freely and willingly the highest responsibilities of American citizenship. He left the comfort of civilian life to serve in two wars. He suffered and sacrificed—he gave his life—because he was imbued with real American ideals.

Stress on Patriotism

I have been criticized many times because in my speeches I have stressed the importance of patriotism, of love of country and devotion to its ideals. Some people have found fault because I have referred to the American flag and what it means and also because I have spoken of the Bible and what it means to America.

At this time I want to reiterate, with all the force at my command, that patriotism, religion and high moral standards are the fundamental qualities without which no nation can long endure. Faith in America and faith in God cannot be stressed too much.

Fortunately for America there has run through the fabric of our industrial, social and spiritual progress a strong, golden thread of deep religious conviction.

Let us here resolve that this devotion to God and our country will be continued with ever increasing spiritual and moral strength.

Brig. Gen. Prickett

Brig. Gen. F. B. Prickett, a distinguished soldier who headed a division in the Battle of the Bulge was present and spoke.

"It was men like Lt. Col. Brettell who made the Allied victory possible," said he. "Willingly he gave up his peace-time pursuits to return to the colors. You people of New Castle honor yourselves when you honor him. I am proud to be present and add my little to this reverent service."

The dedication took place at four-thirty in the afternoon. Headed by the American Legion Band and Burial Escort, the men of the 229th Field Artillery and former cavalrymen marched from the court yard of the burial park to Valor Ridge. Lt. Col. George F. Mitchell and Maj. Edward Eakin were in charge. Here Louis B. Round, chairman of the day took over.

Plaque Unveiled

Rev. John L. Petrie, pastor of Mahoning Methodist church pronounced the invocation. Gen. Prickett was the first speaker. Following Senator Martin's address J. Allan Brettell, a son of Lt. Col. Brettell unveiled the plaque. Paul W. Keely placed a flag and World War two marker at the plaque and Harvey G. Blatrim placed a bouquet of flowers in the vase which is a part of the plaque. Both are former officers of the National Guard and associates of the late Lt. Col. Brettell.

The band played another number, the firing squad fired a salute to the dead, and the sad notes of "Taps" floated over the air. The service was done. A group of men had paid tribute to a former associate, and the memory of one of New Castle's heroic dead will be kept for all time in imperishable bronze.

Mrs. John B. Brettell, widow of Lt. Col. Brettell, his son J. Allan Brettell and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Patricia Brettell expressed their gratitude for the memorial plaque. Said Mrs. Brettell, "we are deeply grateful to the men of the cavalry and others who had a part in the memorial. We shall never forget their kindness."

OVER MILLION GIVEN

BETHLEHEM, July 6.—(INS)—Over a million dollars was donated by 2243 alumni to the Lehigh university progress fund.

Earl F. Johnson of Detroit, Mich., national chairman of the drive, announced that seven out of ten alumni contacted have contributed to the fund, from which it is hoped that a new dormitory and an addition to the gymnasium can be financed.

The fund, Johnson stated, is still nearly a half million dollars short of its national goal.

GREENWICH WILLIAMS PAINTS

SPARS, and Seabees, all of them were in line with eight mummy bands heading the divisions.

Col. W. Fulton Jackson was the Grand Marshal of the parade and he headed it in an open car. With him were Admiral J. J. Clark and Brig. Gen. F. B. Prickett. Directly back of the marshal's car was U. S. Senator Edward Martin, Major Thomas Green, Lieut. Thomas A. Cook and other military men.

As the head of the line reached the reviewing stand midway between Mill and Mercer streets, the reviewing officers got out and mounted the reviewing stand.

Here they received the salutes of the unit leaders as they passed. Upon the Reviewing Stand were Col. Jackson, Admiral Clark, Brig. Gen. Prickett, U. S. Senator Edward Martin, Major Thomas Green, Lieut. Thomas A. Cook, Louis B. Round, Worrell M. Jones, Roger W. Rowland, Judge W. W. Braham, Judge John G. Lamore, Mayor John F. Haven, City Councilmen Joseph D. Alexander, James Gibson and Richard I. Davis and J. V. Davis.

In line were a unit of the regular Army from Pittsburgh, the 229th Field Artillery Battalion, Legionnaire Posts, VFW Posts, Marine Corps League units, numerous bands and drum corps, and the Catholic Daughters of America from Butler, headed by a girl's drum and bugle corps garbed in green uniforms.

Color and glamour and snap. It was all there, and plenty of it. A parade that youngsters will remember until they take their grandchildren to parade and one that will not soon be topped here. At least not by a military parade.

It was the official opening of the Sesqui and what an opening it was!

LIMA, Peru, July 6.—(INS)—The Peruvian government moved swiftly today to quell a revolt by two southern military garrisons against the regime of President Jose Luis Bustamante.

Report Trawler Explodes At Sea

Commercial Fishing Vessel Reported To Have Crew Of 15 Men. No Survivors Found

SEASIDE PARK, N. J., July 6.—(INS)—The U. S. Coast Guard office said today that an unidentified trawler exploded two miles off the Jersey coast.

Men on the Coast Guard rescue boats said they found some of the 100-foot vessel, wreckage, but no survivors. The boat is believed to have carried about 15 men.

Fishing Vessel

They said that the floating wreckage definitely identified the boat as a commercial fishing vessel but they had not yet been able to establish its home port or its name.

Chief Clifford Brown, of the Seaside Police department, said the Coast Guard had been sent to the scene after a lookout tower at Seaside reported seeing flames and a flash.

The Chief said persons on shore reported seeing flames shoot 50 feet into the air and heard explosions.

Coast Guard officials reported their ships had returned to port after conducting a search for possible survivors. They expect to resume the hunt today.

New High School Building Burns

Newport Township School In Ruins As Result Of Lightning Bolt And Flames

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 6.—(INS)—A new $250,000 high school at nearby Newport township was in ruins today after a lightning bolt set it on fire last night.

The 14-room schoolhouse was rased by flames which raged out of control as fire companies from Nanticoke and Hanover fought desperately to extinguish the blaze.

Huge crowds clogging and choking the highways interfered with efforts of firemen to reach the scene before the flames got out of control.

Picnickers Stunned

Shortly before the bolt smashed into the high school building, another lightning bolt struck a pavilion and stunned ten holiday picnickers who had rushed there for shelter from a violent thunderstorm.

Two of the victims shocked by the electrical discharge were sent to hospitals in "fair" condition. The pavilion was not set on fire by the bolt, but all of the picnickers were knocked out by the shock.

Bust and cobwebs on light bulbs not only cut down the amount of light but also may create a fire hazard.

Knights Of Road No Longer Walk

British Tramps Resort To Bicycle. Finding Walking An Unpopular Sport

LONDON.—(INS)—Modern British tramps wouldn't be caught dead walking.

Today in ever greater numbers they are swarming over the highways and byways of Britain on bicycles.

And if they can't find one they hitch-hike, according to W. G. Bayley, chairman of the Oxford County Vagrancy Committee, who points out that walking definitely is no longer popular.

Bayley states that the new tramp is much younger than he used to be. At least 80 percent of the tramps passing through the casual wards are under 40. More women, some of them quite young, have joined the "knights of the road."

Accommodation Big Problem

The big problem today is accommodation. Tramps are going from one casual ward to another in such numbers that county authorities have a man-sized problem on their hands.

Cause of the tramps' "housing problem" is that many institutions were requisitioned during the war and still are in Government hands. Bayley points out that in general tramps usually search for work for the first six weeks. After that the magic of the "open road" casts its spell.

Home-Made Bomb Fatal To Youth

AMBLER, Pa., July 6.—(INS)—The explosion of a home-made bomb was blamed for the death of Edward Foulke, Jr., a senior at Germantown Friends' academy.

The youth, son of a prominent lawyer, died after bomb splinters ripped through his abdomen.

Brother Escapes

Young Foulke's brother, David, 15, and two of their teen-aged friends were witnesses to the tragedy.

They told police Edward had filled a three-inch long pipe with a chemical mixture which exploded with a terrific roar as young Foulke tried to tap tags into it.

The dead youth was captain of the wrestling team at Germantown Friends' academy and a member of the school's varsity football squad.

Fireworks Display Injuries Eighteen At Haddonfield, N. J.

HADDONFIELD, N. J., July 6.—(INS)—Eighteen persons nursed wounds today after a faulty aerial bomb exploded amid a crowd of 6,000 persons watching a fireworks display at Wallworth park in Haddonfield.

Only one of those hurt was in serious condition. She was 13-year-old Dorothy Willingmyre, of Haddonfield, who suffered severe face lacerations and burns of both legs.

Watching Finale

The explosion occurred while the big crowd watched the finale of an hour-long display.

One of the aerial bombs failed to rise, but shot across a small pond and flashed into the crowd. Most of those hurt were seated on blankets near the water and had no way of escape.

The injured were rushed to nearby hospitals and the offices of physicians close to the scene.

Waring Will Head Committee Planning Pennsylvania Week

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(INS)—Fred Waring, whose dance orchestra at Pennsylvania State college, 30 years ago has grown into "Waring's Pennsylvanians," will head the entertainment committee for the 1948 observance of Pennsylvania Week.

A native of Tyrone, Waring formed his band while a student at Penn State. He now resides at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware.

His appointment to the committee by General Committee Chairman Brenten G. Wallace prompted Waring to point out that his bandmen "have been singing the praises of Pennsylvania" all their lives.

CANNERY WARNED

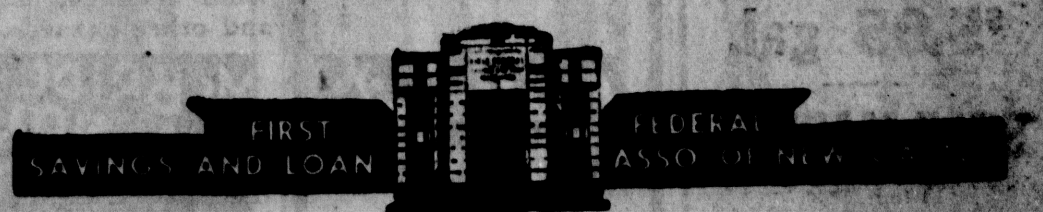

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—(INS)—Cannery operators in Pennsylvania are cautioned about compliance with the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act—the federal wage and hour law.

Because of the approaching season with its unusual employment of young workers, Frank J. G. Dorsey, regional director of the wage and hour and public contracts divisions, urged employers to use extreme caution and make certain they are not violating the federal law, or their state law in hiring young workers for summer employment.

Jewish State Votes To Reject Peace Proposal

BULLETIN
TEL AVIV, July 6 — (INS) — The government of the Jewish State of Israel voted today to reject the proposals of Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte suggested to bring about permanent peace in the Holy Land.

A communique said that the Israeli State Council decided on "complete rejection" of the United Nations mediator's proposals after a session which lasted three and one-half hours.

The council vote was 27 to 0, but there were four abstentions. Reasons for the rejection were not announced immediately.

The Arabs previously turned down the peace plan by offering counter-proposals, avoiding any statement about outright rejection.

Count Bernadotte meanwhile gave the Arabs and Jews until Wednesday to answer proposals to extend the Palestine truce.

The four-week ceasefire in the Holy Land arranged by Bernadotte expires on Friday.

MARSHALL HANDS U. S. PROTEST ON BERLIN TO SOVIET

The Soviet government "has had a reasonable period of time to study the note and make its reply."

The statement added that the note definitely concerned the Berlin situation.

Marshall's reassurances against publication was taken to indicate the desire of the United States to avoid any semblance of hastening Moscow to what may prove an indiscreet decision.

British and French Note Also
However, it also made clear that the note will be published if the Kremlin appears to daily in answering it.

Parallel but not identical notes were handed the Soviet ambassadors by the British and French governments in their respective capitals about the same time.

While Marshall saw Panyushkin, Undersecretary Lovett conferred with the envoys of the five European western union powers over carrying out of the Vandenberg resolution for aid to friendly powers.

Ten Thousand Visit Cascade Park Over Fourth Week End

All Areas Of Park S-camped With Visitors; Swimming Pool Attracts Hundreds

An estimated 10,000 visitors flocked to Cascade Park over the Fourth of July week end, making it one of the most outstanding week ends in recent years celebrated at the East Side amusement and recreation center. It was reported by Chris C. Coulthard, superintendent of the park.

The midway, which was all swamped with individuals seeking a few minutes of relaxation before they would have to return to offices, mills and other places of employment today. Outstanding is the fact that of the thousands on hand indulging in various activity, not one accident was reported to the park office.

The swimming pool proved one of the most popular spots with young and old alike seeking relief from the warm, humid atmosphere. Many family picnics were in order with the grove facilities taxed throughout the day. The picnic shelters are all reserved each day until the park closes on Labor Day it is reported.

The midway, which has the various concessions, did a land office business, with the operators going strong until midnight when the park closed for the day.

The fire works display on the island in Cascade Park lake drew thousands Monday evening. Many motorists used the south approach to the park coming out Hamilton street, thus relieving to some extent the congestion on the East Side, although traffic moved at snail's pace before and after the presentation of the fireworks display.

The bridge over Big Run leading to the swimming pool has been temporarily repaired with motorists who use caution being able to use the structure. Permanent repairs will be made to the bridge at a later date by city workmen.

Beehive peak in the Big Horn Crags in central Idaho was named because of its resemblance to a beehive.

VESPER SERVICE OPENS SESQUI

military seems to have added to his uncluttered as a speaker and his address was excellent.

He stressed the need for religion, both in war as well as peace, told of some of his experiences overseas and urged that America stand fast in its faith.

A special feature of the evening was the appearance of Hon. Hugh McClelland, consul-general for the British Empire in the eastern United States.

Newcastle-on-Tyne Greeting
In a brief address Mr. McClelland spoke of the bond between the United States and Great Britain, of the two nations standing together in two wars and concluding by hoping the bond of friendship between the two would be strengthened with the years.

He also brought greetings from Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and congratulated the people of New Castle upon their 150th birthday as a community.

The music for the vesper service was unusually well done. The chorus of 150 was a chorus of good voices, well trained, and somehow the setting Sunday night seemed to inspire them. Mrs. William J. Caldwell directed the chorus, with Mrs. Richard K. Allen and Miss Ruth Weir at the pianos. Trumpeters used for special effects were Joe Colalucia, Fred Martin and Walter Bucci. In addition to leading the congregational singing the choir sang the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "Worthy Is the Lamb".

Back of the scenes was a lot of detail work that had to be done well if the service was to be a success. This was done by Austin A. Webb.

Democrats Jibed For Attempts To Draft Eisenhower

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—(INS)—The Independent-Republican Philadelphia Inquirer jibed Democratic leaders today for their vigorous efforts to draft Gen. Eisenhower for the Presidency despite the former Chief of Staff's curt "no."

The Inquirer said editorially: "Gen. Eisenhower has given his answer to the bigoted Southern Politicians and the selfish big-city Democratic bosses who had, with appalling effrontery, tried to force him into a presidential candidacy to 'stop' President Truman at next week's Philadelphia convention."

"His answer appears simple enough for even a Southern Governor or a Chicago or Jersey City Democratic mogul to understand."

The Inquirer said it was glad that Gen. Eisenhower has come out frankly to put the anybody-but-Truman squad in its place."

Said the powerful Philadelphia morning newspaper:

"The power-hungry, patronage-greedy Democratic bosses... refused to take Eisenhower's January letter (refusing to run) at face value and, led by James Roosevelt and his coterie of last-ditch New Dealers, put the heat on the general."

"They are a sorry lot, these desperate Democratic leaders who want to regain power in the government by hanging on to 'like's' coal-tails."

But the Inquirer said it doubted that even Gen. Eisenhower's statement last night rejecting a presidential bid "will put the quietus on the Democratic campaign of desperation."

Said the Inquirer: "They (the Democratic leaders plugging the Eisenhower boom) will weigh every word in the general's statement. They're pretty sure to read into it what isn't there and read out of it what is there. They have too much at stake in local and state organizations to sit down weakly and sob into their beer."

As national capitals, Ottawa and Washington have a lot in common geographically: each has its chief governmental buildings on a hill-top and each has a river and two tributaries.

GRANDMA FUTTY'S ANTI-INFLATION UMBRELLA

Around Hollywood

By RUTH BRIGHAM
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, July 6.—(INS)—Helen Gahagan Douglas may be a member of Congress in Washington, but when she gets home-to-Hollywood she's just one more member of the family for Actor Melvyn Douglas to discipline.

And that's the happy Douglasses reply to what happens when the Congresswoman comes home—or who wears the pants in the family.

What's more, the answer was unanimous, as the two sat in their beautiful home high in a knoll above Hollywood.

Mrs. Douglas said: "I guess I'm from just an old-fashioned family, but we always believed in the man of the house being the 'boss'."

Melvyn is Boss.

"The children ask me whether they may do unimportant things, but if it's anything that counts, I notice they ask their father."

Calm and happy, she didn't look like the Helen who shouts as loud as the rest of 'em in Congress.

She laughed:

"When I first got to Washington they called my shouting 'histrionics'. But now they know it's just plain, Irish anger. And I do get awfully angry in Congress—this one, especially!"

Melvyn Douglas can never complain about his wife going political, because he's the one who started it all. The good-looking actor has long been an active member of the Democratic party, and has served on several committees.

Decided To Run

But when Mrs. Douglas became interested in the problems of the "Okies," as well as other problems that can best be served through law that Congress makes, she decided to "go the whole hog."

Since her election several years ago she has spent a large portion of her time in Washington, D. C., where she has a home in the old Georgetown section.

But they always manage to see each other very often—with Helen flying to California for weekends, or Douglas flying east.

Douglas said:

"I have to remain in the acting profession so Helen can remain in Congress. She couldn't afford it otherwise. Because she doesn't operate her office on a budget, not with that research staff she maintains."

Never Any Money

And Helen laughed, "That's right. I never have enough money from my salary to buy a pair of shoes."

Actor Douglas is probably the only man in the business who ever sued a company to keep from making a million dollars!

That was when he returned from Army duty, and Metro wanted to tack those years on to his contract—to add up to an aggregate salary of one and one-half million dollars. He won, and is now free from MGM.

His present contract with RKO calls for one picture a year, and leaves him free to pursue his Broadway producing, movie producing—and time to fly to Helen in Washington.

WOMEN EXECUTIVES

"Don't you think that most women executives are very dictatorial and inclined to be abusive to their women subordinates? We have one in our office who seems to take delight in hectoring the rest of us. I think they need a good call down. Why not give it to them?"

Answer: It is extremely difficult for a woman executive to be efficient and at the same time popular with female subordinates. For if she does her duty to establish law and order, it is resented by her "victims," yet if she is too friendly with the girls, she might possibly lose her executive standing.

So, you see, it takes wisdom, tact and charm for a woman executive to be acceptable to both her employer and the employees whose business destinies she is guiding. But I know several who are succeeding.

Business women should not lose their femininity in either dress or temperament. They should be agreeable and pleasant, interested in their work; but not so absorbed that they lose their charm of manner.

Above all else, they should be fair-minded toward their own sex. Many women in authoritative positions, as you say, lose their balance when they gain power. They become overbearing and too masterful. Especially when they approach middle-age, some are prone to be forgetful of their own youth and unwilling to overlook the peccadilloes of young girls. Too many are really jealous of women more eligible to men than they are.

As I say, this sometimes happens, but not always and not necessarily. A little flattery on your part will dispel the intolerance you dread.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to question from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Congress Aspirants On Democratic Ticket Meet In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(INS)—Thirty-three Democratic candidates for Congress, will meet today at Harrisburg with State Chairman Philip Mathews to discuss district-by-district campaign strategy. Mathews said the candidates, including five incumbents, will scan the record of the Republican-dominated 80th Congress for any legislative failures which can be tailored to fit district campaign needs.

The meeting started at 2 p. m. EDT in state committee headquarters.

Incumbents slated to attend the meeting are Congressmen Francis E. Walter, of Easton, 30th district; Thomas D. Morgan, of Fredericktown, 24th district; Augustine B. Kelley, of Greensburg, 27th district; Herman P. Eberhart, of Pittsburgh, 32nd district and Frank D. Buchanan, of McKeesport, 33rd district.

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(INS)—Pennsylvania has the most complete system of air markers in the country.

Replacement of deteriorated and destroyed markers was started during June. There are 700 air markers in the commonwealth.

A small percentage of markers painted in 1946 and 1947 were lost in road replacements, the commission reported.

Expenditures For Relief Mounting

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(INS)—Relief expenditures in Pennsylvania today are running approximately $700,000 more each month than at the beginning of the year.

State Department of Public Assistance reports disclosed skyrocketing costs despite a case load drop of 2,600 in the first half of the year. At the end of June there were 160,500 cases listed by the department compared with 173,100 at the beginning of January.

Expenditures last month topped $8,300,000, according to the department's report.

HUNTINGDON, July 6.—Mrs. Mae McConaghy, R. D. 5, New Castle, a school teacher, was among the 85 enrolled for the fourth annual session of the Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies held at Juniata college here from June 28 to July 2.

Holiday Death Toll Is Near 500

Far From Complete Reports Show 265 Persons Killed In Traffic

DROWNINGS ALSO TAKE HEAVY TOLL

(International News Service)
The holiday death toll over the extended Fourth of July weekend rose to 475 today.

Far from complete figures showed 265 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the three-day period as the heaviest automobile flow in the nation's history jammed the highways.

The toll showed 153 persons drowned, 33 dead from miscellaneous causes and four killed by fire-works.

Michigan led the states with a reported toll of 40. Illinois followed with 32 and California, Massachusetts and North Carolina with 20 each.

Estimates Surpassed
The National Safety Council's forecast that 235 persons would lose their lives during the holiday period was surpassed late yesterday.

One of the heaviest single tolls from drowning occurred in the Tennessee river, about 11 miles north-east of Mobile. Frank Williams, Jr., and six children he had taken on a boat ride died when their craft spilled them into the stream.

An estimated 50,000,000 motorists crowded the nation's highways during the holiday weekend.

Other fatalities occurred in the South to get some relief from the heat wave which blanketed the eastern seaboard and the midwest.

SKATER INJURED

Harold Nelson, aged 23 years, of 451 Neeshamock avenue, suffered a dislocation of the right elbow, when his skate latched and he was thrown heavily to the floor at the Arena, Sunday evening. He was treated at 9:25 p. m. on July 4.

The U. S. Army Signal Corps recently demonstrated that rockets can be used to lay mines across terrain which is impassable by foot. Using a new lightweight mine, the rocket method proved practical up to 100 yards.

BEAVER FALLS, July 6.—Dr. M. M. Pearce, president of Geneva college, announced today that W. Stewart McCready assumed the position of business manager of Geneva college on July 1.

Mr. McCready is a graduate of Beaver Falls high school and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Geneva college in 1923. On leaving Geneva, Mr. McCready was employed by Ingram-Richardson Manufacturing company, and later was affiliated with the American Surety company of New York, and the New York Casualty company.

Mr. McCready, whose home is in Beaver Falls, is an active member of the Beaver Falls Kiwanis club, and is serving his second term as treasurer of the Geneva College Alumni Association.

Begin Erection Of Shenango Township School Addition

Contractors for the Shenango Township school building addition has already begun preliminary ground work on the structure it was reported today by a member of the township school board.

Tunnels are being dug for under ground plumbing and the base for the foundation of the new building is being started. There will be no basement under the addition, thus no excavating will be necessary other than that to put in installations in connection with the plumbing and heating units.

No time has been set by the general contractor, Matthew Leivo and Sons as to when the structure will be completed, but it is anticipated that occupancy will be effected early in 1949. The work will mean the addition of eight additional rooms which are necessary to relieve the overcrowded conditions that exist during the school year.

VACUUM-LESS 'VACUUM TUBE'

AN AMAZING CONTRIBUTION to electronics and electrical communication that has been used experimentally to replace radio tubes, the Transistor (inset), has been developed by Bell Telephone laboratories, New York City. The device serves as an amplifier or an oscillator, and performs all functions of ordinary vacuum tube, but it involves no vacuum, no glass envelope, no grid, no plate, no cathode—therefore it has no warmup delay. Key scientists who invented gadget are Dr. William Shockley (seated), Dr. John Bardeen (left) and Dr. Walter H. Brattain. (International)

Sesqui Youth To Star In Wednesday Pet-Vehicle Parade

City Rural Youth To Present Floats, Pets, Bikes In Colorful Parade

Pet and vehicle parade, which will be New Castle youths' contribution to the Sesqui celebration, promises to be a gala event.

Youngsters are busy registering their pets and vehicles to receive a number to march in the parade. Each youngster is marching with the playground, in a section, which he attends during the summer.

Large white banners with black letters in red will precede each separate playground group, with the name of the playground on that banner.

If some child should want to march in the parade, but does not attend a playground, he should march with the playground group nearest to his home.

Promptly at 10:30 o'clock the youngsters and their entries must be in formation at Neeshamock avenue between East Washington and North street, where the parade begins. No late entries will be accepted, and the parade will get under way at 11 o'clock.

After forming on Neeshamock avenue, the parade will move west on East Washington street to the Public Square, thence to South Jefferson street, where it will disband.

Prizes are being offered for best decorated vehicles and all sorts of prizes for pets.

City Recreational Director Art B. Alexander announced that participation is increasing and a large parade is anticipated.

In addition to the part of the parade sponsored by the playgrounds of the city, rural youngsters belonging to Granges and 4-H clubs will participate with floats and various kinds of exhibitions.

Brick Workers In 12 Plants Strike

CLEARFIELD, Pa., July 6.—(INS)—Some 1,800 brick workers in 12 plants in Pennsylvania and Ohio, went on strike today after failure to settle a wage dispute.

On strike are 1,000 workers in six plants of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Co. in Clearfield and 800 employees of the following plants: Harbison-Walker Co., at Retort, Pa.; Chester, Pa.; and Pittsburgh, and Hiram Swank refractories at Johnston and Large, Pa.

The strikers, members of the United Stone & Allied Products Workers of America (CIO), turned down a company offer of a 10-cent-an-hour increase. The basic wage under the expired contract was $1.04 an hour.

Another will be Dick Moulton of Geneva, O., one of the country's outstanding bait casters. He has given exhibitions in Boston, New York and many other of the country's metropolitan centers. His exhibition will follow that of Cox.

Afterwards, there will be skeet and trap shooting, and contests with pistol and high-powered rifle, which is open to any sportsman, and for which some attractive prizes will be given.

A fortune can be made raising rattlesnakes, it's said. New York and Chicago cocktail bars buy great quantities of rattlesnake meat to serve as "snacks" and appetizers, and drug manufacturers pay $25 an ounce for rattlesnake venom.

Firecrackers Injure Three In Capital

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(INS)—State police today listed three persons injured by firecrackers in the Harrisburg area during the holiday weekend.

John Coyt, 12, of nearby Enola, and Jack Heman, 13, of suburban Progress, both suffered hand injuries when firecrackers exploded prematurely, police said.

Eugene Looker, 19, Harrisburg, suffered a bruise of the right eye when he bent over to pick up a firecracker which he believed was a dud.

Dream Of Dixie Democrats Has Been Shattered

ATLANTA, July 6.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's curt refusal to be considered for the Democratic presidential nomination widened the split today among anti-Truman southern Democrats.

The adamant "I... could not accept the nomination" shattered the four-day dream of many Dixie Democrats that the party could be united solidly before next week's Philadelphia convention.

Nearly all of the southern states fell back on their original and divergent plans made before the magic name of the retired army chief of staff apparently reunited them.

Once more they have no common candidate to place before the convention in opposition to President Truman.

Mississippi, Arkansas and possibly Alabama again are ready to bolt the party ranks rather than support Mr. Truman's nomination.

Political observers concede that the delay in Eisenhower's statement served to strengthen the states' rights faction. They explain that the several days in which the "boom" for Ike was permitted to continue brought out more plainly than ever the pronounced anti-Truman sentiment of the south.

Some party leaders openly waited that the explosion of the Eisenhower bubble means certain defeat for the party in the November election.

Sportsmen's Day Of Celebration To Bring Celebrities

Hour For Exhibitions At Lawrence County Sportsmen's Farm Has Been Changed

It was announced today by President Herman F. Steinbrink of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association that the hour for the sportsmen's exhibition, planned for Thursday, July 8, as part of the Sesquicentennial celebration has been changed from 1 o'clock to 4 o'clock, so that many of the members who work in the mills will have an opportunity to attend.

Among the celebrities who will be present and who will stage exhibitions on Sportsmen's Day will be Wilbur Cox, who is rated as one of the world's marksmen. He is coming here through the courtesy of the Remington Arms company, and is an expert with both rifle and shotgun.

Another will be Dick Moulton of Geneva, O., one of the country's outstanding bait casters. He has given exhibitions in Boston, New York and many other of the country's metropolitan centers. His exhibition will follow that of Cox.

Afterwards, there will be skeet and trap shooting, and contests with pistol and high-powered rifle, which is open to any sportsman, and for which some attractive prizes will be given.

Traffic Dense In Travel To Park

Sesqui Fireworks Display Attracts Huge Crowd—Fireworks Display Good

Cascade Park was "bursting at the seams" Monday night. The Sesquicentennial fireworks were displayed at 10:30 and hours before that time traffic was a steady stream out East Washington street.

So congested was traffic that it took 30 minutes to get from downtown to the park in an automobile or bus. At the close of the fireworks it took over an hour before traffic was back to normal. What the crowd totaled would be hard to estimate, but it was well up in the thousands.

Bus drivers did an excellent job of tooling their buses through the streets, and city police officers handled traffic skillfully. It was a big night for a holiday crowd, and thousands took advantage of it.

The fireworks display was a brilliant one. While the ground pieces could not be seen by any save those who surrounded the lake, the aerial pieces were enjoyed for miles around.

POWER MENACED
OSLO — The municipal authorities in the small community of Valsøfjord, southwestern Norway, have declared war upon woodpeckers. The birds have concentrated their efforts in an attempt to break down the electricity supply of the small community. The wooden posts, supporting the transmission wires, have been damaged, and are now to be replaced by new ones. The authorities are paying $1 for every woodpecker killed.

RADAR FERRY
NEW YORK — New York's first radar-guided ferry didn't have to wait long to prove its mettle. Within four days after it started service recently a dense fog settled over New York harbor, crippled maritime traffic in the area, and even caused one freighter to go aground at Coney Island. But the radar aboard the ferryboat enabled the boat to shuttle back and forth between Brooklyn and Staten Island without a hitch.

Governor Dewey Silent On Action By Gen. Eisenhower

PAWLING, N. J., July 6.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for the presidency, had "no comment" today on General Eisenhower's rejection of the Democratic presidential candidacy.

Still uncertain as to who will be his major opponent in November, Dewey ended three days of complete seclusion and rest at his Quaker Hill farm and prepared to devote most of July to part-time vacationing and work.

The Eisenhower statement repudiating efforts by many Democratic leaders to "draft" him, did not take Dewey by surprise. The New York governor firmly believed that Eisenhower meant exactly what he said several months ago when he announced he would neither seek nor accept a presidential nomination.

Dewey believes Truman will be his opponent, but he would not be disturbed if the Democratic nominee was U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Eisenhower is recognized in the Dewey camp as a major threat.

Dewey is receiving no visitors, other than old friends from other Quaker Hill estates, but he will keep in touch by telephone with a number of Republican leaders, including his running mate, Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Fog Handicaps Food Flights In Berlin Sector

BERLIN, July 6 — (INS) — Fog closed in on the United States airport at Frankfurt today, slowing down the aerial by-passing of the Soviet food blockade of Berlin.

Transported aircraft in the U. S. sector of Berlin reported that only 10 food-laden planes arrived from the American zone from midnight last night to noon today.

But the temporary slowdown was partly counter-balanced by yesterday's record haul. U. S. officials said that 224 planes, including 64 C-54 transporters arrived in Berlin in the 24 hours ending at midnight last night.

The Soviet-licensed News Agency, however, professed the Western air transport will fail to feed the Western sectors of the beleaguered German capital.

Meanwhile, the Russians tightened their stranglehold on the isolated Western sector by requiring all automobiles registered there to obtain special permits to enter the Eastern sector.

German Communists heightened tension by demanding that all of Berlin be incorporated in the Russian occupation zone.

Outstanding Picnic Enjoyed By Pottery Workers Saturday

Over 5,500 in Attendance At Annual Event Held At Conneaut Lake Park On July 3

The weatherman, committee members and everyone in general cooperated wonderfully in making the annual Showings Pottery company picnic one of the most outstanding and best attended affairs in recent years. Over 5,500 pottery employees and their families trekked to Conneaut Lake Park on Saturday for the annual event.

The frolicers left the city early in the morning, by auto, bus and rail. A special train especially chartered for the event, took 12 coach loads of the picnickers to the northern resort town. Every moment of the day was filled with thrills and excitement for the merry-makers who forgot shop talk for the time turning their efforts toward having plenty of fun.

The afternoon hours were taken up with various events including the sports program with a dance program taking place from two to five o'clock. Plenty of food and refreshments were on hand to satiate the hunger and thirst of the group.

Prizes in the various drawings were presented to: John Walters, Ralph Stickle, Gertrude Melchior, Ruth Brunswick Stefano Pfeifruk, Edward Smialowski, Alice McDonald, Marjorie Magulak, Pearl Walzer, Fred Covell, Mary Newton, Helen Gregor, Mary Ann Piziotto, Clara Dix, Paul DeLeon, Viola Tanner, Millie Troit, Rocco Troit.

Reuters said the mission was believed concerned with the Palestine situation.

Somerset Child Still Unlocated

SOMERSET, Pa., July 6.—(INS)—Discovery of additional footprints spurred the search today for 23-month-old Donald Collier, missing in a mountainous area of Koser State Park near Somerset, since last Friday.

But as the search continued, Pennsylvania state police held little hope that the child will be found alive. They pointed out that the area has been hit by several heavy rains and electrical storms since the child disappeared five days ago.

Carries Secret Of Ransom Fund To His Grave

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—(INS)—Albert Bates will carry to his grave the secret of where he hid his $100,000 share of the ransom money collected in the 1933 abduction of Charles F. Urschel, millionaire Oklahoma City oil man.

The notorious midwestern kidnaper died Sunday without revealing the hiding place of the money he had hoped for years to retrieve upon release from prison—a release he never won.

His death occurred in the federal penitentiary on the Island Rock of Alcatraz in San Francisco Bay. It was announced late last night by Warden E. D. Swope.

Bates was 57. Death was due to a complication of dropsy and heart disease for which he had been hospitalized for months on "The Rock." He was serving a life term.

The desperado and two confederates—George "Machine Gun" Kelly and Harvey J. Bailey—were convicted under the "Lindbergh law" for the sensational Urschel kidnapping.

Bates, who had previously completed a long record of burglary and bank robbery, was put into solitary confinement in Leavenworth prison in an effort to make him tell where he had cached his share of the ransom money. But he never told.

He was transferred to Alcatraz after he and Bailey had gone on a hunger strike. In the island prison Bates studied law in a search for a loophole through which he could beat the life sentence. He took several appeals to the courts, claiming the "Lindbergh law" was unconstitutional, but failed in each attempt.

Bosox, Cards Take Holiday Twin Bills

Redbirds Regain Second, Bucs Split, Slip Notch

NEW YORK, July 6.—It's one of those things that either might have come along in October, or practically none at all. But either way, the angle that interested not a few astute ballfield people today was the fact that the two clubs which profited most from the July 4 week-end was the pair that played the famous '46 world series—the Cardinals and the Red Sox.

They were the only double-winners—barring the meaningless White Sox—in a profusion of twinbills that marked yesterday's holiday season.

They still have the latest class from which champions are fashioned as widely conceded on and off the field.

And today it seemed more than faintly possible they were beginning to show it—the Red Sox in the most convincing way of all: With a double defeat, by 6-5 and 8-7, of the club they believe they have to beat for the American league pennant, the world's champion Yankees.

These free-style, score-as-you-please things are tough ones to come out, by the same token, it takes a tough team to win them. Anyhow, if there's to be a Sox resurgence from this point to the pennant, it may date itself in review from that record 14-run inning against the Athletics on Sunday.

Less conspicuous things than that have set ball clubs adrift with a snarl that permitted no challenge to stand thereafter between them and their destiny. Particularly, it may be added, in a league where progress has been almost stationary for six weeks.

The result was two good days—Sunday and yesterday—sent the Red Sox from 16 games back Sunday night to the fringe of active contention with the Indians, Athletics and Yankees.

Seven Red Sox. Briefly, the Sox were still seven games behind the leading Indians. But they were definitely on the climb, having performed gained two games yesterday on the third place Yankees and one each on the second place Athletics and first place Braves.

This pair broke even on the day—the Indians winning, 6-5, and losing, 7-4, to the Detroit Tigers; while the Athletics lost the first to Washington and Mickey Vernon, 5-1, then took the second by 13-4.

Meanwhile, as the only club among the eight in the National league to gain during the day, the Cardinals went reeling overnight from an "advisory" third to an actual second—only two games back from the Yankees. A hole in the Sox's lead over the Cubs and the latter being halted after six innings by darkness.

Chicago, the Cardinals, like the Red Sox, came up out of a slump to make this sudden move at the halfway point of the major league season. The Cards had just lost four straight, the Sox had seven straight, the Cubs and the latter being halted after six innings by darkness.

Durocher On Way Out, But, Front Office Has Erred As Much As He

By BILL COBURN (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 6.—In the last two days a seemingly revitalized Brooklyn baseball team has won two of the most exciting games played in the major leagues.

They have won three games, but one turned out to be a cake-walk at the finish.

The Dodgers are now only five games behind the important last-place Braves in the league-leading Eastern Division. Even so, prior to winning four in a row they had lost five straight.

So had the St. Louis Cardinals on approximately the same days. So had the Braves at certain stages of the flag race to date. As well as the Giants, Pirates, Phils and the remainder of the teams in the National league.

That has been the story of the league since the beginning of the season. No team has managed to escape these slumps.

Therefore, judging him solely as a baseball manager, Leo Durocher has done little, if any, worse than Billy Southworth, Eddie Dyer, Billy Meyer, Ben Chapman and the rest.

In short, if his name were Joe Doakes and not Durocher, the worst anybody could say on his job to date that he had done about as well as any of the others.

Not Same Set-Up

Durocher, however, is not with the Brooklyn team as other managers are with their teams. There is a prejudice against him, which all must also admit. So that to keep his job he cannot afford a mistake. Cannot ride out the sort of slump that comes to all managers of all teams at sometime.

That is a tough assignment. Particularly tough when a fellow knows he is on a spot, and is going to get no second or prolonged chance, which Durocher does know.

This is exactly what has happened. Durocher is all but out as manager of the Dodgers as I write this. There is nothing to be gained by not being frank about that.

When the final word of his firing comes, as it may any day—even any hour—the announcement may be signed by Rickey. But it will not be Rickey's doing.

At any rate, the writer does not believe it will, although confessing that Rickey is not the easiest man in the world to be sure of in a spot of this kind.

Has Fair Chance

If Durocher is let out now, few, even among his most vociferous and persistent enemies, will attempt to argue that he has had a fair chance with the Brooklyn team this season.

So if it isn't the ailing Mahatma who is responsible for Leo's teetering on the fence of dismissal at the moment, who is it?

I don't know. I only know that Rickey's partners in the ownership of the Brooklyn club are John L. Smith and Walter F. O'Malley. It is natural to assume, therefore, that the responsible party, or parties, is one or the other, or both, of those gentlemen.

For every mistake Leo has made on the playing field this spring and summer, I'll name you ten that have been made in the club's front office. Or I'll name the Messrs. Smith and O'Malley and Rickey ten.

Rickey knows, the other two may not, that while baseball is a business it is unlike any other business. It is also a sport and there are those who expect the

The New Castle Chiefs had a very unpleasant holiday weekend, losing four ball games.

Vandergriff and Johnston provided their own fireworks in games that ended—18 to 3, 4 to 6, 11 to 7, and 8 to 7.

New Castle and Johnston will conclude their three-game series here this evening with a game slated as "ladies' night" and set to start at 8 o'clock with Joe Karski ready to try and snap the Chiefs losing streak.

First goes for Johnston. Vandergriff, the league leaders, set the stage Saturday night with a 27-hit attack that produced 18 runs, five of them going out of the ball park for homers. New Castle couldn't solve George Heller (9-1) at all, he gave but six hits, and except for a brief lapse in the eighth frame, allowing three hits and three runs, had an easy time. Ed Wallace was the victim, being dickered in the third inning after the Pioneers had hit their fifth homer. "Fireman" Buchioni finished.

Komora Applies Brush

Big Steve Komora (9-1) was Manager Pat Patterson's pitching choice for Vandergriff Sunday afternoon and he had a kaleidoscope brush up his sleeve allowing six hits and nary a run. New Castle had the bases full with two out in the eighth and looked the punch to put over a single tally.

Dave Werner a new left-hander for New Castle was the victim, and again "Fireman" Buchioni was sent in, in the eighth inning. Komora in the pinches was tougher than a secret service agent. Kerner looked good in spots, but was wilder than a March hare, walking eight men.

Errors Help Johannes

Five errors, all by shortstop Don Miller, former Kent State university star, proved the undoing of the Chiefs in the Monday afternoon ball game, which Johnston won 11 to 7. Hugh Grisham, the Chiefs hurler, deserved better fate. He hurled a fine game, outside of the big third inning when he allowed three hits and walked one, with Miller kicking away three in the frame.

Joe Tytko did the Johnston hazing in the afternoon fracas and was found for 12 hits, New Castle bunting them in the first and eighth for five of their runs. Glenn Burns and Jack Fitt led the Chiefs against Tytko with three hits apiece. Johnston had two homers in the game, one by Manager Roy Nichols in the sixth and one by First Baseman Bob Mitchell in the second. Burns and Don Miller had the only extra-base hits that Tytko allowed.

Rally Falls Short

The Chiefs gave the Johannes several anxious minutes in the night-cap, looking by the count margin of 8 to 7, after staging a pleasing rally in the last of the ninth that fell short as Fitt grounded out to Manager Nichols at third base, with the baserocks loaded and three runs in.

New Castle led until the top of the ninth, 4 to 3, when Corbett weakened after pitching a beautiful first inning and allowed four hits, a single, two double and a triple, coupled with a walk and an error by Fitt, for five runs. Johnston rushed in two hurriers in the ninth to stop the locals, utilizing four pitchers altogether. Koepenke starting and lasting until the eighth, Kean, Sawyer and Jones finishing in that order. Kean, the winner.

Mahoney Stars At Bat

Walt Mahoney, New Castle's star first sacker, led the attack on the Johannes pitchers with four hits in six trips, while Lou Perry batted out three hits in four trips up, Muldoon having two singles. Dick Haviland led the Johns with three hits, all singles. Bishop and Mitchell, also pounded the ball hard for the victors.

The grounds over the holiday were not too large owing perhaps to the many counter-attractions. General Manager Mike Cannavino today announced that pitcher Ed Wallace has reported a lame back and has been placed on the voluntary retired list. Roger Vallancourt and Flynn, the catcher, have gone back to Canada, leaving New Castle hard hit for pitchers. A new young hurler from Philadelphia is due in today. Shortstop Don Miller asked for his release and it was granted, yesterday.

GASTON POST WINS

Perry S. Gaston post team defeated the Sharon Junior League Monday, 3-2 in ten innings. Sharon is the Mercer county champ and until yesterday was unbeaten.

Perretta and Orlando allowed but four hits in the victory and the latter scored the winning tally in the 10th.

SHADYSIDE WINS

The Shadyside Tigers downed the Rome team, 7 to 6 in a city softball league game Monday. This was an overtime game. Play-er-Manager Lee Liveral of the Shadyside team getting the hit that decided the game. Pat DeMarco was the winning hurler, and Sands the loser.

SHAMROCKS WIN

The East Side Shamrocks defeated the Friendly Furnitures 2 to 1 in a well played city league softball game, Monday, with Richards the winning pitcher and Fi Augustine the loser.

A bright future is foreseen for Penn State's sophomore hurler, Jim Gehrdts, of Altoona, Pa.

Citation Greatest--Arcaro

CHICAGO, July 6.—(INS)—Eddie Arcaro's eyes danced as he tossed his wife to a green and declared: "I didn't say it after the Kentucky derby, but I'll say it now. This is the greatest horse I've ever ridden,—by far."

His mount Citation.

Citation became the first three-year-old ever to win the fabled Star and Stripes handicap at Arlington park yesterday. His best older horses by a length and a half and tied the track record of 1:50 1/5 for the mile and an eighth distance.

He then became the greatest single-year money winner of all-time and the fourth highest money earner on the all-time list of the turf. He gave weight to all but one of his foes and that one was stablemate Fervent.

Citation now has earned $457,930 this year alone, an all-time mark that surpasses the old single-year record of Assault.

In his life-time Citation has won $257,000 and has cashed home as The Hundred-Grand Classic and the Hundred-Grand American Derby before him this summer alone.

Sesqui Tourney Largest Yet Held

With a record number of entries already assured, the Sesqui centennial golf tournament at Sylvan Heights July 10 promises to be the largest golf tournament ever in the county.

Samuel G. Haycock, Jr., tournament manager said today that he had 114 entries on hand, with the tournament a few days away. More entries are expected this week and if this tournament follows the usual pattern, there will be forty or fifty "tee" entries, that is golfers who enter just before they tee off.

May Reech 200

"The total may reach 200" said Mr. Haycock. In the history of Sylvan Heights we have never had more than 125 golfers in any tournament. The recent qualifying round for the national Publiclinks tournament in Pittsburgh attracted only 83.

Apparently a lot of golfers from western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio want to get possession of the John Carlyle Stewart trophy, which goes to the winner, along with a set of matched woods. In addition, there will be twenty nine other prizes given.

Cleveland golfers seem to be attracted to this tournament, 36 of them having entered already. Pittsburgh has a long list, among them the Sewadino brothers, Sharon, Butler, Greenville, Jeannette, Alliquippe, Youngstown, these and many other cities have entries in and some hot competition is in store for July 10.

Samuel G. Haycock, Jr., the tournament manager, is the son of the manager of the Sylvan Heights golf course. This is the first tournament he has ever managed and he starts his career as a tournament ringmaster by topping all previous efforts of his dad.

But Sam, Sr. doesn't seem to mind. "Can't beat the kids" he remarked as he scanned the growing list of entries.

Two-Alarm Fire At Atlantic City

Blaze in Famous Marine Ball Room At Steel Pier Early Today

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 8.—(INS)—Firemen battled a two-alarm blaze early today in the famous Marine Ballroom of Steel Pier, three-eighths of a mile out at sea.

Thousands of vacationists lined the boardwalk to watch the firemen fight the flames.

Police said the blaze was discovered only 10 minutes after the pier had been cleared of Monday night patrons.

It was Steel Pier's second two-alarm fire in nine years. In 1939 a similar blaze wrecked the ballroom while 2,000 persons were on the pier.

Today's fire broke out shortly after Steel Pier had catered to a near-record crowd of 47,000 persons over the July Fourth weekend.

Tex Bonake's orchestra had just finished playing a holiday engagement and had left the pier when clean-up personnel discovered the flames.

Steel Pier also includes five theaters, an ocean stadium for circus and water sports attractions accommodating 5,000 persons, and dozens of lounges, exhibits, steam-er decks and concessions.

Only the Marine Ballroom had been engulfed by the flames, however.

Death Occurs In Watertown, N. Y.

Dr. William C. Couch of Watertown, N. Y., passed away Monday, July 5, at seven p. m. in Mercy hospital, Watertown, according to word received here.

Dr. Couch is survived by his wife, Bess Hodge Couch, formerly of this city, and one son, Dr. Gordon Couch, of Watertown.

The Greek Parthenon was built of marble throughout, with the exception of wooden door frames, doors and roof timbers. No mortar was used.

WASHINGTON—Maximum weather temperature believed over to be recorded was 136 degrees Fahrenheit in Africa Libya in 1922.

Associated Artists Have July Session

Associated Artists of New Castle regular meeting took place Friday evening in their club rooms at 115 East Washington street.

Members of the Sharon Art club were guests.

It was decided to discontinue the classes conducted by Fred Alexander until fall.

Members were asked to begin gathering material for a library of art information to include books, magazines, clippings, etc.

Committees for the month appointed by Otto Farnall, president, were Rita Fletcher and Martin Waldman, clean-up; Elizabeth Reis and Elizabeth Solomon, food.

William Berkstresser will have charge of all mimeographing for the club.

The Sharon club invited the New Castle club to a sketching picnic to be held Sunday, July 11. All those interested were asked to meet at the Farnall sign shop no later than one o'clock. It was decided to have a similar outing August 1 with the Sharon club as guest.

Fred Alexander led a critical session at the conclusion of the business meeting. Paintings were submitted by Mary Campbell, Rita Fletcher, James Sotus and Fred Alexander.

Next regular meeting will be August 6.

Many Old World Dolls At Big Run

Dolls from the Old World took two of the three prizes offered in the Big Run doll show held at the Big Run playground Friday afternoon. About 30 youngsters entered dolls of all descriptions and ages. Besides the many foreign dolls on display, there were Indian dolls, life size baby dolls, and even toy animals.

Mary Lou Smith boasted the largest doll, while the smallest one was owned by Gerry Marso, Funniest doll belonged to Sandra Charles and the quaintest one to Geraldine DeRico.

First prize went to Barbara Lutz for her gay Spanish doll in a red dress.

Second prize was awarded to Joellen Amodeo who had a baby doll dressed in a highly decorative crocheted dress.

Third prize went to Rose Gabriel for her large French doll. Judges for the contest were Helen Cella, Ora Dambrosio, Loretta Stofick and Elaine Kalata.

ARRIVE IN PORTUGAL

Three New Castle men, Nicholas J. Mallis, chief boatswain's mate, USN, of 302 East Lutton street, John Paul Perretta, fireman, USN son of Mrs. Anna Perretta of 238 South Liberty street, and John B. McCormick, seaman, USN, son of Mrs. Leanne McCormick of 108 West Clayton street, arrived in Lisbon, Portugal, while serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Macon, one of the 13-vessel Midshipment Practice Squadron on its annual summer cruise.

It is estimated that bad street lighting kills one and two-thirds as many people each year as all six of the United States floods put together, including the Galveston tidal wave of 1900 which killed 6,000.

STATE HOLDS OWN
CINCINNATI, July 6.—(INS)—Motor vehicle ownership in Pennsylvania is up 24.1 per cent since 1944.

Powel Crosley, Jr., Cincinnati lightweight car manufacturer, said that this increase in the automobile-owning population of the Keystone State, which now ranks twenty-fifth in the nation in post-war increase, is especially significant.

Pennsylvania seems to have held its own, Crosley commented, not only against a trend of post-war population shifts away from the industrial east, but also in the improvement of the economy of its people.

WELL-BUILT

LARAMIE, Wyo.—All the buildings in a $2,000,000 downtown Laramie fire were destroyed, except for one 76-year-old structure. The wind-whipped flames razed newer structures, but the red brick, two-story landmark wasn't even singed.
